

TKF's Safe School Model Impacts

Since inception in 1995, the TKF story and services have directly impacted the lives of over 580,000 local youth. During that same time, TKF has made over 4 million impressions through public broadcasting series, educational networks, conferences, published articles, news stories, and other media outlets. Azim Khamisa's "Forgiveness" TED talk has been viewed over 1.1 million times. The results of the Safe School Model are impressive and continue to grow.

Peacemaker Assembly Student Survey Results:

- 85% learned a lesson on being kind to others*
- 73% learned how to resolve anger and conflict without fighting or violence*

Restorative Workshops Curriculum Student Survey Results:

- 92% learned how to regulate emotions and reactions*
- 89% learned how to be positive about themselves*
- 93% understood restorative principles*
- 77% reported applying something they learned in the curriculum sessions at home or at school*

Peace Educators (Mentors) School Student Data Analysis:

- Participating students reduced misconduct levels (behavioral referrals and suspensions) by 67% *
- Participating students reduced truancy levels by 72%*

CSU San Marcos Outcome Study Findings:

- Students reflected they were able to "calm down" and control anger and incorporate forgiveness.
- The majority of students were able to clearly identify when a response to a problem was restorative, and when it wasn't, particularly when it involved aggressive physical action or apologizing.
- Most students demonstrated clear understanding of harm, as well as the taught skills and knowledge around calming down.
- Many students were also able to clearly identify a current need and identify one action that makes a harmful situation right.

"I know what it takes to forgive and how I need to practice it more for me."
